

RING!
RING!

In Gava's library I can/I can't

- In Gava's library I can read.
- In Gava's library I can't speak
- In Gava's library I can study

Has got/Hasn't got

- Gava's library has got many small plants
- Gava's library hasn't got two floors
- Gava's library has got an incredibly noisy telephone.

Is/isn't (adjectives)

- Gava's library is truly bright
- Gava's library isn't very noisy
- Gava's library is really orderly

SILENCE

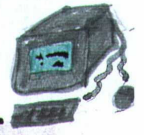

is/isn't (directions)

- Gava's library is truly far from Barnasud
- Gava's library isn't near my home
- Gava's library is by the mimes

I like/I don't like

- In Gava's library I like the information of computers
- In Gava's library I don't like the librarian.
- In Gava's library I like luminosity

there are/aren't

- In Gava's library there are a lot of big windows
- In Gava's library there are pretty tables
- In Gava's library there aren't a lot of books

In Gava's library there is/there isn't

- In Gava's library there is a very brilliant mirror
- In Gava's library there isn't a back door
- In Gava's library there is a small black rack

