

Connectors

EXERCISE A- Look at the categories below. Write two connectors in each category. Use the following list: Moreover, whereas, for instance, despite, finally, furthermore, such as.

Contrast	Addition	Example	Sequence
Although	In addition	For example	Firstly
-----	-----	-----	-----
-----	-----	-----	-----

EXERCISE B- Complete the following sentences using the connectors in the above chart.

1.some celebrities are famous now, their fame won't last forever.
2. Some advertising is aimed at (has the objective of) making the public aware of (conscious about) cruelty to animals; showing people the animals that are killed to make fur coats.
3. Scotland is famous for its whisky Spain is known for its sherry.
4. Young and old alike can benefit from keeping a cat., cats don't need round-the -clock attention.Their food is inexpensive, and, they can be loving.
5. Some cosmetic companies are only concerned with (are only interested in) making a profitpublic opposition to animal testing of creams and lotions.
6. Some people have unusual pets;, my neighbor has a tarantula.
7. Streograms appear on products T-shirts, greeting cards and jigsaw puzzles.

EXERCISE C - Complete the following sentences in your own words.

1. On the one hand, film stars are very glamorous; on the other,
2. I really enjoy foreign foods, such as
3. Although my family is very traditional,.....
4. My parents love listening to opera, whereas
5. There are a lot of reasons why I enjoy school. Firstly,
6. In spite of, I look up to him (admire).
7. Maria should get the job. For one thing, for another,
8. There are quite a few American celebrities who are well-known in my country, for instance,
9. Despite the bad weather
10. Old people not only have experience but they also