Dracula in Love

a les 10h al pavelló de l'IES

In this interactive comedy we meet a group of young actors that are trying to put on a performance of Dracula. But time is short and they don't have enough people in the cast. They need the audience to help audition the actors, provide the sound track and help produce this classic gothic drama. As the rehearsals progress and the play unfolds, Dracula's love story becomes confused with the actors own to great comic effect. The show comes with a workpack and CD with which the students can familiarise themselves with the play, try out some drama games and activities, and even put on a performance themselves.

Murder Mystery

In true Sherlock Holmes style, we bring you a very modern murder. Set in old, dusty manor house our guests, the audience, are there to enjoy a weekend in the English countryside. Little do they realise there is a murderer in our midst... Who is it? What do they want? And most importantly who will be next? Following the clues throughout the play, our audience will be asked to turn detective and try and work out who the criminal is, before they strike again...
